GUNNEBO®

Cannabis Business Security and Cash Management Solutions

Increase efficiencies and limit risks of theft and robbery

As state-licensed cannabis businesses lack access to banking services due to the legal gray area of bank compliance issues under federal law, many retailers, cultivators and distributors are increasingly forced to run a “cash-only” business.

This has left many cannabis owners exposed to a whole new set of business risks – for their operations, employees and customers.

Security risks. Large amounts of cash on premise leave cannabis owners vulnerable to employee theft and “smash and grab” robberies, putting employees and customers in harm’s way.

Lost time. Counting, recounting and reconciling cash takes time away from sales and customer service activities.

Retail shrinkage. Employee theft, shoplifting, human error and vendor fraud all contribute to discrepancies between book and physical inventories, causing a loss of profits and an increase of company costs in other areas.

Gunnebo Cash Management Solutions

Gunnebo brings a family of cash management solutions to the cannabis industry to enhance security, improve operational efficiency, and reduce losses from theft and fraud.

Gunnebo cash management solutions provide automated cash deposit, cash recycling and remote tracking/monitoring functionalities. The solutions deliver fast, efficient and secure cash processing, safe storage and online access to cash data, analytics, and reporting, ensuring your cash is not only properly managed and protected, but your staff and customers are too.

The smart safe, cash recycler and remote online management solutions can be integrated across single or multiple cannabis facilities to increase cash visibility and improve operations.

By improving security, accountability and efficiency across your cannabis business, Gunnebo cash management solutions ensure your employees, customers and profits are kept safe and secure.
